"Fake News:" What It Is & How to Help Students Detect It

Cross-Curricular Training

Equip students to critique and evaluate information in order to identify reliable websites, discern accurate information, and spot fake news. California Writing Standard 8 requires students to "assess the credibility and accuracy of each source" as they seek to "gather relevant information." Teach students what to look for and consider in order to more effectively evaluate online sources and the authenticity of digital information. Join us for an interactive, engaging session that will empower you and your students to navigate the web successfully.
