

Camp History Day

For Teachers, Coaches, Librarians & Coordinators

July 15 - 18, 2018 • Sonoma County

Hosted by NHD-CA, the California Foundation for History Education, and Sonoma State University.

Camp History Day will focus on implementing National History Day in the classroom—from topic selection and research, to project development and presentation. Under the leadership of NHD-CA Coordinator Whitney Olson, NHD master teachers, and Sonoma State University Librarian Hilary Smith, participants will have their own History Day experience as they research a topic and develop a deeper understanding of the historical inquiry process. Sessions will include tips, tricks, and strategies from librarians and experienced NHD teachers on best practices, thesis statement development, project creation, and revision.

New and experienced NHD teachers will find themselves immersed in this fast-paced boot camp as we replicate an NHD year in three and a half days! The Jean and Charles Schulz Library is the venue, which allows researchers to access its collections and digital reference materials. The workshop will introduce participants to all NHD presentation categories with an emphasis upon documentary production. This workshop is open to 25 teachers.
